Rehab Practice Management Purchases Desert Physical Therapy

NASHVILLE, Tenn., November 14, 2011—Rehab Practice Management, LLC announced today that it has acquired Desert Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine, an outpatient clinic provider of Physical Therapy services in Apple Valley, CA. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Rehab Practice Management (RPM) CEO, John Hawes, commented: “We are pleased to add another market leading provider to our platform. Desert Physical Therapy (DPT) is a highly respected outpatient physical therapy provider in Southern California’s high desert. With a 30 year history in the market, DPT has a well-established reputation for quality service and strong referral source relationships. Together with our purchase of the Back On Track practice in Barstow earlier this year, this acquisition enhances our presence in an important market, and fits well with our strategic plan of building regional market density through complementary service lines and locations. It is consistent with our approach of focused, managed growth and balancing assets among our contract services and owned clinic operations.” Hawes added, “Along with new contract locations in West Texas starting this quarter, adding DPT allows us to finish 2011 very strong, and will help us exceed our 20% growth goal for the year. Further, these developments position us well to meet our 2012 growth target of 20% - 25%”.

Desert Physical Therapy Founder Dr. Terry Robinette DPT (Doctor of Physical Therapy) will remain on staff at Desert Physical Therapy. With Desert Physical Therapy, RPM now has 4 locations in Southern California’s High Desert area.

Rehab Practice Management, headquartered in Franklin, Tenn., provides rehabilitation management and therapy staffing services to hospitals and operates wholly owned outpatient clinics in markets non-competitive to its hospital customers. The company was formed in 2004 with 4 locations in California and now has 25 locations in 5 states.
